

And as the Space Shuttle Program progressed through breakthroughs and heartbreaks, numerous microgravity experiments have been designed, built, and operated by NASA Glenn and conducted on-orbit on the space shuttle. The results of NASA Glenn experiments have been used to improve fire safety, emissions reduction, energy efficiency, healthcare, and electronics.

On the ground Ohio's NASA engineers explored the universe with Ohio astronauts on-orbit. Nineteen astronauts from Ohio flew on the space shuttle, some multiple times. Former astronaut-turned-U.S. Senator John Glenn flew on STS-95, and STS-70, the "All-Ohio Crew," flew in 1995 with four Ohio natives on the crew, and the fifth crewmember was made an honorary Ohioan.

As we congratulate NASA on the Shuttle Program and honor all those involved in its success, the true measure of the importance of the STS Program will be where NASA goes next.

I have had the privilege to meet many of the scientists, engineers, and workers at NASA Glenn. They are dedicated and compassionate, guided by the scientific patriotism that displays a nation's pursuit in understanding the world in which we all live.

The space shuttle has enabled the United States to continue its leadership in space, science, and technology. I am proud of NASA Glenn's role in the design and testing of the space shuttle, and especially of its leadership in numerous scientific experiments that have been conducted on the space shuttle.

I am confident that both NASA and the United States will refocus to continue to push the boundaries of science—fueling technology advancements and inspiring our children to become the next generation of scientists, engineers, and explorers. NASA Glenn and Ohio will continue to play a major role in that effort.

Our Nation is defined by the spirit of discovery, pushing westward on land, navigating the oceans, and sending humankind into what was once a mere vision seen only through Galileo's eye. We are a nation of explorers. And we all have a responsibility to safeguard that defining American spirit and to inspire a new generation of American explorers.

RECOGNIZING WAY WAY STORE

• Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, it is always devastating when a business that has been part of the fabric of a local community closes, whether it is the drycleaner, the candy shop, or the grocery store. That was the case with the Way Way Store in Saco, ME, which closed its doors 8 years ago after nearly 80 years in business. However, due to the entrepreneurial spirit of a local couple, the Way Way Store has recently reopened, reinstating the original store's dedication to offering personal service and affordable products. Today I commend the Way Way Store for its grand reopening and discuss its remarkable history.

The Way Way Store was originally opened in the southern Maine town of Saco in the late 1920s by the Cousens family. Eugene Cousens constructed the store from handmade concrete blocks, an effort that resulted in the building being placed on the National Register of Historic Places. Today, the building's exterior retains its original red-and-white color scheme, and the original cash register still sits atop the counter. Through the 1940s, the Way Way Store was essentially a rest stop for travelers as it offered gasoline, clothing, outhouses, and food. Over time, the Way Way Store began to focus on selling candy and other foods and quickly became a popular local establishment.

Like many other established small businesses, the Way Way Store places a strong emphasis on family. The Cousens family owned the Way Way Store from the time that it opened until Peggy Tyrell and Catherine Cousens decided to close the store in 2003. Eight years later, Peter Scontras, a retired historian and schoolteacher, and his wife Bridget reopened the store last month to much acclaim, thus restoring a local landmark. They remain determined to honor the legacy that the Cousens left behind while adapting to ensure the store's success.

The Way Way Store has been something of an institution in Saco, and the reopening has provoked a strong positive response in the town. People who frequented the Way Way Store before it closed in 2003 are coming back to take in the atmosphere that harkens back to the mid-20th century and to enjoy the wide range of sweets that the store offers. By offering a multitude of traditional favorites like penny-candy and employing original ideas like a takeout ice cream window, the Scontras family has proved to be shrewd business owners, and the new Way Way Store has endeared itself to yet another generation of Mainers.

As many specialty shops fall to the wayside due to competition from larger chains, it is inspiring to see a small business rediscover success and continue its contribution to the local economy. People in the Saco area have expressed their gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Scontras for reinvigorating a true gem in York County. I join them in thanking the Scontras family for the risk they have taken in opening a small business in this tumultuous economy and commend them on their hard work and dedication to their customers and to the Way Way Store's grand tradition.●

ISABEL, SOUTH DAKOTA

• Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I recognize Isabel, SD. The town of Isabel will commemorate the 100th anniversary of its founding this year.

Isabel was founded in 1911 and named after the daughter of a railroad agent. Located in Dewey County, it was a booming community in the early years when the town served as the last western stop on the Milwaukee railroad. Isabel became a home for settlers looking for a place to successfully raise livestock and farm. Today, the community of Isabel continues to carry on their strong agricultural heritage and grow their local businesses.

Isabel has been a successful and thriving community for the past 100 years, and I am confident that it will continue to serve as an example of South Dakota values and traditions. I would like to offer my congratulations to the citizens of Isabel on this landmark occasion and wish them continued prosperity in the years to come.●

MELLETTE COUNTY, SOUTH DAKOTA

• Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today I recognize Mellette County in South Dakota. Mellette County will commemorate the 100th anniversary of its founding this year.

Mellette County was organized in 1911 and named after Arthur C. Mellette, the first Governor of the State of South Dakota. The county seat, White River, is home to the annual Frontier Days celebration and rodeo. In celebration of the centennial, the communities of Norris, White River, and Wood will be hosting many events to mark this important milestone.

Mellette County has been a successful and thriving example of South Dakota values and traditions for the past 100 years, and I am confident that it will continue that tradition. I would like to offer my congratulations to the citizens of Mellette County on this landmark occasion and wish them continued prosperity in the years to come.●
